

Sackville Farmers' Market COVID Operational Plan 3.0

The province of New Brunswick has returned to a state of emergency following a sustained rise in COVID-19 cases. The following health precautions will remain in place for market vendors and staff:

Sackville Farmers Market Staff:

- must undergo daily health screening on market day. If staff exhibit any signs of communicable disease including runny nose, cough, fever, or diarrhea, they must self-isolate and seek testing.
- routinely sanitize frequently touched surfaces including door handles and all features of public washrooms
- must wear a community facemask that fully covers the nose and mouth when indoors or in a high density space where social distancing is not possible
- must implement layout of indoor market facilities in a manner that reduces crowding and respects public health directives on capacity.

Sackville Farmers Market Vendors:

- must create and implement their own operational plan outlining health screening, facemask use, sanitization of frequently touched surfaces
- must undergo daily health screening upon arrival at market. If a vendor exhibits any signs of communicable disease, including runny nose, cough, fever, or diarrhea, they must inform the market manager, self-isolate and seek testing
- are strongly encouraged to provide a contactless payment method (POS system, cash bucket, etc) in order to minimize hand-to-hand transactions.
- Vendors are strongly encouraged to sanitize or wash hands regularly after handling cash or engaging in hand-to-hand transactions of money or product

- must wear a community facemask that fully covers the nose and mouth while doing business.
- Unmasked coffee and food breaks must happen away from customers, food items, and point of sale. Vendors must properly wash or sanitize hands before returning to their point of sale.
- Vendors without sanitizer or a mask will be provided such by the market manager and subsequently billed for the expense

Sackville Farmers Market Customers:

- customers are required to wear a community face mask in order to enter the indoor portion of the market
- customers are strongly encouraged to wear a community face mask when attending the market, including outdoor lineups and vendor stalls
- customers are strongly encouraged to use contactless payment methods in order to avoid hand-to-hand transactions
- customers are strongly encouraged to practice good social distancing (2 metres or more)
- customers who exhibit symptoms of communicable disease must self-isolate and seek testing

This health policy will be reviewed as required by new provincial guidelines and during regular board meetings.
